City of Hamburg supports ODESSA TWINS
Mystery-game by Twintime convinces panel-jury with innovation

From this year on the city of Hamburg supports a market on the go and Twintime is part of it from the very first day.

With their action-adventure ODESSA TWINS the young developer team presents a pack of intoxicating game-play ideas and an innovative interface. This convinced the jury of experts. Prototype-development already started thanks to the funding by the Hamburg office for economy and trade.

The result of these development efforts (8 months) is meant to open up new options for the whole genre of action-adventures altogether. Reason for this is a groundbreaking innovative interface and dialogue system for PC and consoles is playing a central role.

EyeToy and Wii are the role models: Computer-Games of the future will mostly be based on a more direct link from man to machine.

Twintime breaks a new ground with its mystery-game ODESSA TWINS and the city Hamburg invests into the future of entertainment.
